16	Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ▶
	Distributions that qualify as a return of capital are not dividends. A return of capital is a return of some or all of you asis of your stock. Recipients of the non-dividen cash distribution referenced herein must adjust their cost basis. A distribution generally qualifies as a return of capital if the corporation making the distribution does not have any accumulated or current year earnings and profits. Once the basis of the corporation making the distribution does not have any accumulated or current year earnings and profits.
	your stock has been reduced to zero, any further non-dividend distribution is capital gain.
	100% of the distribution referenced herein is deemed to be non-dividend distributions, and hence, a return of capital.
